

Lend a hand to those in need

A donation to the West Valley Food Pantry is a donation to your local community. We work to give our clients hope for a better future, a commitment that began 30 years ago when we first opened our doors. But we can't do it alone.

Every penny you give helps us connect people to a vital force for positive change.

The need in our area

- + 1 in 5 residents falls below the poverty level
- + The rate of poverty for families in the San Fernando Valley is almost 13%

The cost of feeding community

- + 65% of the food we serve is purchased from low-cost food outlets with donations and FEMA funds
- + 39 cents per meal

Your donation builds the foundation of a stronger, more vibrant community!

West Valley Food Pantry

In 1985 the West Valley Food Pantry coalition was formed to help expand the services of the original outreach program that was established at Prince of Peace church in 1975. Ten members of local faith based organizations joined together and now, over 30 years later; this organization is still going strong. The West Valley Food Pantry has evolved from collecting canned goods that supplied a small church pantry to one of the largest food pantries in the area serving our neighbors in the west San Fernando Valley.

Today, the WVFP has over 200 volunteers. They purchase or take delivery of food shipments, stock shelves, validate client eligibility, maintain distribution records, shop for specials, buy and pick up food, as well as assist in the daily distribution. We serve twelve zip codes that cover the West San Fernando Valley. Our efforts are made possible by the contributions of both food and money we receive from the local community and our coalition members.

Come on in.

At West Valley Food Pantry, we're doing more than feeding the hungry. We're offering community members the help they need to truly thrive.

Almost 3,000 people and 26,000 meals per month: that's just where feeding community begins.

Our community is our responsibility. We invest in the futures of our clients because we feel that our service can lead to better lives. We extend our services to unemployed residents, the working poor, the homeless, and those living on fixed incomes.

By walking through our doors you connect with the people around you. Feels good, doesn't it?

Serving with us

Our volunteers are truly the force that sustains our service to the community. They serve meals, handle our inventory, pick up donations, organize food drives and promote our mission throughout the community.

Whether you can spend an hour a week or ten days a month with us, West Valley Food Pantry would love to have you!

If you can't come to us we'll come to you. Ask our staff about having a speaker come share information about the West Valley Food Pantry with your organization.
